

Orang Utan Wildlife Adventure – Floating Market – Loksado Trekking

Grade : Easy – Moderate

Tanjung Puting National Park is a home of more than just the great apes, other kinds of animals are really easy to find, such as; Orang utans, Bekantan, gibbons, big dragonflies, blue streak of kingfisher. The other interesting animals require patience including; proboscis monkey, crab eating macaques, small crocodiles, wild pig, deer, monitor lizards and hornbill, they show up occasionally.

The boating route to the national park is very memorable experience, leading along the jet black, nipa palm fringed the Sekonyer river, while the black water rich of tannins organic acid and poor of oxygen reflects the sky and trees like a mirror. And Tanjung Puting National Park very popular with location for Orang Utans Rehabilitation and Research.

South Borneo is the only province in Kalimantan or Borneo that worth a visit for its own sake. It has an interesting floating market where people making transaction from boat to boat, and nearby of the river is a land that inhabited by monkeys and place of Chinese and Bugis origin to present flower as the presentation to have a success commerce and fortune. Traditional diamond mining on Cempaka village where people take out the materials on the ground then panning it on the pan of wood to find the diamonds. The other most interesting spot to visit is Loksado, place for exploring the rainforest and Dayak Meratus land, then having the bamboo rafting as the climax of the trip.
